Leavin' & Sayin' Goodbye

D Justice, New

D                                A7
So many times I've told I was leavin'
                                  D
And oh so many times how I have tried
                  D7                 G
But sayin' your leavin's so much easier
                   A7           D
Than leavin' and sayin' goodbye

 A7                                  G                     D
Cause every time I'd start to go I wouldn't get ten feet
           E7                                              A7
Till I go runnin' back like a runaway child that's afraid to cross the street
   D                                        A7
My mind might tell my lips to say it's over
                                  D
My heart would only say it's a lie
                    D7                 G
Cause sayin' your leavin's so much easier
                   A7           D
Than leavin' and sayin' goodbye

 A7                                  G                     D
Cause every time I'd start to go I wouldn't get ten feet
           E7                                              A7
Till I go runnin' back like a runaway child that's afraid to cross the street
   D                                        A7
                                  D
My heart would only say it's a lie
                    D7                 G
Cause sayin' your leavin's so much easier
                   A7           D
Than leavin' and sayin' goodbye

 G             A7           D
Leavin' and sayin' goodbye

Face To The Wall

G Ian, New

Intro

      D7                                                    G
Was I farther from your conscience standing face to the wall

                                        C
I suspected there was something that you weren't telling me
        D7                                      G
And last night I learned the reason for it all
                                        C
I was looking through your window saw you kissing someone else
           D7                                                 G
You reached up and turned my picture slowly, face to the wall

Face to the wall so you wouldn't have to see
D7                  G       C       G
Anything at all to make you think of me
                                          C
Did the cheapness of the moment make you feel ashamed and small
     D7                                                    G
Was I farther from your conscience standing, face to the wall

                                      C
Alone out in the darkness were the eyes that worshiped you
  D7                                    G
As you cheated me I watched my... idol fall
                                        C
With your arms around another, and his lips where mine should be
      D7                                                 G
Then I saw you turned my picture slowly face to the wall

                        C
Face to the wall so you wouldn't have to see
D7                  G       C       G
                                          C
Did the cheapness of the moment make you feel ashamed and small
     D7                                                    G
Was I farther from your conscience standing, face to the wall

Too Gone For Too Long

D Ian, New

            B7
You've been too gone, for too long,
     E7
it's  too late to come back now.
A7                            D
It's been so long since you  walked out my door,
           E7                          A7
now you're  just an old song nobody  sings anymore.
          B7
I gotta a  new love and she's the true love
  D                             F#7
but darlin' how could you have  known?
                  B7             E7
Cause you've been  too gone, for  too long
         A7                       D
now it's  too late to come back home

SOLO on first half of verse

     B7
You've been a long way, goin' the wrong way
     E7
don't even set your suitcase down
                                   B7
A7You wanted to roam, now you're paying the bills
          E7                                A7
you're an old rollin' stone who rolled over the hills
        B7
I had a good cry when you said "Goodbye"
D                      F#7
I didn't wanna let you go
                B7           E7
but you've been too gone for too long A7
now it's too late to come back Dhome

SOLO on first half of verse

        B7

but you've been too gone for too long
   A7                       F#7
so why don't you just stay gone?
                B7           E7
Now you've been too gone for too long
         A7                      D
